

[REDACTED]'s Wedding
June 5, 2015

In my dream I am standing in grass that actually looks and feels like soft white grass. Everywhere I look, it is white. The grass is not like grass I have seen, but almost like soft foam, yet it has the look and feel of grass. I look to the left and see trees that are tall, but yet their limbs drape out and down. They remind me of a weeping willow with limbs draped in moss. Yet I know it is not moss. What I see are limbs created to be as I see them. They are perfect.

I look to the right and see more trees. Each tree has a unique design. Some look as if the limbs were covered with snow. But it is not snow, because it is warm, and a gentle, perfumed breeze fills the air. Sitting on the tree branches are many different birds. All of the birds are white. Some look like pheasants, owls, parrots, macaws, and peacocks. Yet all of the birds are white.

I look up to a rich, dark blue sky and hear a voice talking. I look behind me and then up to see the guide angel descending very slowly. He calls me by my heavenly name and says, "What an exciting day it is!"

I ask him, "Where am I?"

He said, "Only those who are pure can come here."

Then I hear a female voice say, "But a great exception was made for you." Then she laughs.

I turn to see Perceivous smiling as she descends. She is dressed in the most lavish white formal gown. Her hair is not long, wavy, and curly as I have always seen it. Instead, her hair is up in a very formal style. She says, "It is another wedding day for you."

Suddenly, I hear the sound of thunder crack through the air. Perceivous says, "That is the sound they make when they arrive. They move very quickly, and they are only for this coming bride." She continues, "All you see was created just for her."

When I ask her who it is, she smiles and says, "The one you are to marry."

As I look up, I see what I can only describe as several horses pulling a clear crystal carriage. The crystal carriage is extremely intricate with the most beautiful and precise design. I look closely at the work that went into the design and creation of the carriage itself. It is hard even to find words to describe it. It is perfect is the best way.

Pulling the carriage are many horses. I see 7 rows of horses lined up, 12 in each row. Each horse is the same, except I have never seen horses like these before. Each horse is pure white. Their fur is very long and looks extremely soft. The horses' manes flow from between their ears, down to their necks, along their backs and continue down to their long, flowing tails. Their long manes remind me of an afghan dog.

The horses do not have wings, yet they fly through the air with simple ease. They are attached to a clear, pure crystal carriage. As the horses descend in a flight path to land, I notice that I do not see legs on the horses. As the horses get close to the ground, I see that their legs were folded up against their bodies, the same as a bird's would. What I see can only be attributed to the creativeness of the Creator.

Each horse has two legs on each side of the front of the horse. On the back, there are four legs on each side of the horse. I see that each horse is created with 12 legs, and each leg moves separately from the others.

As the horses touch the ground, I notice that the crystal carriage has something that descends from the bottom and comes to rest on the ground. I cannot describe it. It is not crystal, but some form of pure white energy.

As the horses and the carriage stop, I watch the right side open into two halves. The middle of the carriage also opens up to make walking out easy. The bottom opens downward and forms a ramp with steps to walk down to the ground. I am amazed to realize that the carriage I am looking at is all made of pure crystal.

Now I see an individual stand up and descend down the steps of the ramp. The individual is wearing a long gown that is a dark, blood red. Her head is veiled. Perceivous tells me that this is whom I am to marry, but she is not pure. As her feet touch the ground and she begins to walk, the ground beneath her feet changes from the pure white that it was, to a very dark brown, rocky dirt. Dust rises as she walks. The guide angel quickly approaches her and tells her to stand where she is, because she is walking on pure ground.

Quickly, the guide angel turns, looks up, kneels, and lowers his head in respect. I turn to look up at what he is looking at. It is then that I see Jesus quickly descending right toward the woman whose gown drips in blood. It is not until now that I realize that her gown and veil drip with blood. I turn to Perceivous and ask if this woman is bleeding and if she will die. Perceivous smiles and tells me to be quiet and not interrupt Jesus.

Jesus approaches her, reaches out, and takes both of her hands. He speaks saying, "I sent a message instructing that you were to remain pure and undefiled, because you represent My pure and only church. You did not listen to Me and defiled yourself. You were found to be unholy, defiled and filthy. In the 'Family Direction' message you were told not to have contact with your friends. I forgave you and made you pure again. I dressed you in My white robe. I cleansed you and no one could call you filthy. But here you stand before Me once again—defiled, filthy and no longer able to represent my Holy Church.

I hear a voice like thunder, yet like a wonderful waterfall, yet a gentle stream. Jesus turns and looks up. The voice I hear states, "The one who transgressed my instruction stands before you. The one that stands before Us is filthy, defiled and undeserving. However, I want none other than the one I have chosen. She is and will serve as she was called."

Jesus turns and faces her once again. He takes her hands and says, "Our Father forgives you, as do I. You are to understand that you broke Our commands to remain pure. You were never to be defiled. You were instructed to have no relationship with anyone. You committed fornication, you have committed adultery. You had a sexual relationship even after you were instructed not to."

"You and the one you sinned with did conceive a child. But the Father spoke and removed the fertilized egg, and it will be as if it never was. Yet you stand as one who is defiled."

He places His hands on her shoulders, smiles and says, “Our Father loves you very much. As I spoke to Mary on this earth, Go, and sin no more. It is through the Father’s name that you are once again to stand as one that is undefiled. Once again you are to stand as a virgin. You stand once again as one that no one can say is defiled and unclean.”

As she stands there, I see her gown dripping blood change to a bright white. Her gown actually glows with brightness. The ground her feet stand on also changes from dirt and rock to pure white. The ground is only for those that are pure once again. Jesus asks her for her right hand, and they begin walking.

As they walk along, He tells her that she is never to allow herself to be defiled, ever again. “Yet,” He says, “allowances have been made and all is according to the great plan. As you represent my pure church, my pure church requires a pastor to serve My church. It was always planned that you would never be alone. Instead, you would stand with one who would serve as a pastor. A church always needs a pastor to guide and, when needed, to counsel, rebuke, give messages, as well as teach. With you, it was always planned that you would serve as the seventh wife for our messenger. Today is your wedding day.”

I now notice that she stands under an arch of white roses. To her left stand 12 Perceivous angels. Each is dressed with her hair up and in a beautiful gown. The one closest to her holds a bouquet of different kinds of white flowers. To her right, now I see lining up in a row: the announcing angel, the guide angel and several other angels I have seen in different dreams.

I hear a familiar voice call me by my heavenly name. I look to my right, and it is the Herald. He tells me that it is time I take my place to serve. I walk with him and we stand next to the other angels.

Jesus walks up and she and I turn to face Him. Jesus begins stating, “Marriage is a sacred institution founded in the foundations of this earth. However, marriage will no longer exist after this earth and sin are no more. Sexual differences will no longer exist. All will be as the angels, but those who are brought together will be together for eternity. Those who are called to serve in the end will serve to testify. They will be together forever before the universe.”

“Before us are individuals that are to be joined. These that are joined as one for all eternity will be as one for all eternity. Yet, she will serve, along with others who will stand as one, and all will serve as one.”

I look to the left and see several angels escorting others in. They take their places to the right of the bride. I see an individual I know who holds a pure silver tray, and on the tray is a long piece of white ribbon.

Jesus continues speaking. “██████████ you are called to take your place in serving. As a wife, you are to serve your husband. You are to submit to your husband. You are to serve as has been taught.”

He reaches out for the bride’s hand and with His other hand He reaches out for my hand. He places my hand over hers. He places His hand under her hand and reaches over to the silver tray. He takes the white ribbon and begins to wind it around our hands. When He finishes, He takes His other hand and places it on top of my hand. He looks at me, calls me by my heavenly name, and says, “Do you accept her? Do you accept her, and will you care for her, provide and protect her? Will you serve as her husband, yet guide her, understanding who she is and what she represents?”

He looks at ██████████ and says, “I ask you if you will accept him. Will you accept him and serve as his wife, understanding who he is, what he does, and understanding Who he serves? Do you accept and understand that he is the only husband you will ever have, and that this is the only way that you will remain undefiled, clean, and pure? You will remain pure through the relationship you will have with your husband. It is because of who he is and who he serves that you will be able to serve as you were called.”

Jesus reaches out and removes the veil from her face. As I watch, I understand that beside me stands my wife, ██████████. Jesus says, “Ernie is forbidden to reach out to you in most cases as he serves. ██████████, before you stands your husband. Why do you wait to greet your husband on this, your wedding day?”

██████████ looks to me, takes both of my hands places them around her back and places hers around my back. She pulls me close and proceeds to passionately kiss me.

Jesus now takes her hand, and He [REDACTED] begin to walk. As they begin walking.”

Jesus continues talking to her, telling her that she is always to take her place alongside her sisters, and that she is to serve with her sisters. Jesus continues talking. [REDACTED] also carry My name. Your name is the feminine version of My name. So We share the same name. You must learn to submit and have a total surrender. This is a complete character change for you. You must, like Me, learn to submit and surrender, as I also served on the earth.”

“You have been given a gift that many would give anything to have. You need to understand the one who now has been placed by your side, the one who serves as did John the Baptist, who prepared for My coming. He is the one who serves as did Abraham, Ezekiel, Isaiah, Elijah, Steven, Jeremiah, and many others.”

“You will stand, walk, sleep, and love the messenger for these last days. You will learn many secrets. You will learn of the secret gifts that he has been entrusted with. In time you will learn who he truly is.”

“But he is entrusted with the ability to command angels. He can command animals, as did Elisha, and call for the ground to open and swallow those who speak against the messages, as happened to Korah, Dathan and Abiram. He has been instructed to call for fireballs, but he uses restraint. He can, by saying the words, be taken instantly to wherever he commands. He is entrusted with much, but uses restraint.”

“Again, you see a tired old man, but those that do not see what you see, see one that sees in a way that you will also learn about. Ask, and he will share what he sees.”

“You see an old rose that has lost its fragrance, a rose that has lost its beauty. Many of the petals have fallen off; some of the petals have faded. No longer does that rose stand straight and with beauty. Many of the thorns are all that is left. You see an old wilted rose, but I see one that serves no matter what. You can complain that rose bushes have thorns, or rejoice that thorn bushes have roses.”

██████████, understand that when Eve was made from Adam, she had to unconditionally love and submit to her husband on first sight. It is no different with you. You must unconditionally love and submit to your husband immediately. You and he are now one.”

As they walk along, I see before them a form of a horse corral. In the corral are many horses running. Jesus and ██████████ climb up on bleachers and sit. Perceivous, who has been walking on ██████████'s left side, places on her feet cowgirl boots. On ██████████'s head she places a cowgirl hat. Jesus and ██████████ recline on the bleachers and watch the horses running in the corral.

After a while she comments about the horses that brought her. Jesus says, “All was created just for you: the galaxy, the planet, the moons, even the grass and the trees. The horses, even the length of their flowing manes was created just for you.”

He turns to her and says, “You do not understand who you are or that you will always be the only one. All was done for you. Your sin was forgiven. The child you conceived was removed. You were again made to be a virgin. Only your husband will hold the keys to your virginity, and you will freely give it to him without reservation. Others were required to pay retribution for all the wrongs you did. Ernie has lost much time with his family. Your sister has paid much to provide for you. You have caused much pain to others, but all of them, because of the love and support they have for you, have freely given. You are greatly loved.”

“The only one who could serve as your husband is Ernie. The one who speaks truth is the only one that you could serve as a wife to. Because of your sins, he must serve as your husband. There is no other that could serve. He is the only one, because he is the one that gave you the message in the dream, ‘Family Direction.’ He is the one that was the messenger. So, he is the one who must pay a retribution for what you did. He will serve you, as he will serve as your husband, pastor, messenger and prophet.”

Jesus turns to ██████████ “Please understand that you are to sever all ties with all friends. Serve as you are asked. Soon you will leave with your husband to go on your honeymoon. You will be gone for six weeks.

Beginning with your trip and while you are away, it will be just your husband and you.

Remember and understand: When you and he walk, your place is always to be next to him. You can hold his hand, his arm, or simply walk close, next to him. When sitting, he is to be your main focal point. Talk with him, or listen as he talks to you. While sitting or walking, reach out to him and show him affection. He will teach you other things. Remember, your place is next to him. I must warn you that failure will place retribution on Ernie, not on you. He will serve in paying retribution, not you. It is important that you learn to follow instructions and do as you are asked.”

Jesus and ██████ lean back and look out at the horses in the corral. Jesus says, “If you were going to design a horse, what would it look like?” ██████ begins to explain what she would like to have created.

Here my dream ends.
